

Armenian Copper Busbar Distribution Box Manufacturer

AI Overview

While there are no busbar manufacturers specifically listed in Armenia, several international companies provide high-quality copper and copper-aluminium busbars suitable for distribution boxes and can supply globally.

Key International Manufacturers

RHI Electric RHI specializes in copper and aluminium busbars, including copper-aluminium composite busbars, flexible and rigid types, and custom solutions for power distribution and industrial applications. They offer injection-molded busbars for EV battery systems and high-demand electrical setups. RHI is IATF 16949:2016 certified, RoHS compliant, and provides worldwide shipping, making them a reliable option for Armenian clients seeking high-performance busbars.

Promet AG Promet AG is one of Europe's largest busbar processors, offering copper, aluminium, and copper-clad aluminium (Cuponal) busbars. They provide customized solutions with precise cutting, milling, welding, and finishing. Their copper busbars include ETP and OFE types for high conductivity, while copper-aluminium composites offer cost and weight advantages. Promet's advanced manufacturing ensures high precision and material efficiency.

Eaton Eaton manufactures copper and aluminium busbars with advanced technologies like CNC bending, progressive stamping, and RigiFlex™ flexible solutions. They provide insulated busbars with heat shrink, overmolding, powder coating, or plastic enclosures, suitable for distribution boxes in industrial and eMobility applications.

Mersen Mersen offers laminated busbars with custom metal fabrication, including copper, aluminium, and plated finishes (tin, nickel, silver, gold). Their busbars reduce wiring errors, improve reliability, and can serve as structural components in power distribution systems. Mersen's global presence allows for international supply, including to Armenia.
