

East Africa Low-Voltage Integrated Distribution Box Manufacturer

AI Overview

Key manufacturers of low-voltage distribution boxes in East Africa include IET Africa, Panel Tech Systems, Specialised Power Systems, Electrical Distributors Limited, and African Electric Supplies. Leading Manufacturers IET Africa specializes in switchboards and control panels for diverse electrical installations across East Africa. They offer modular solutions up to 6300A, including motor control centers (MCC), auto-mains failure (AMF) panels, and PLC-controlled systems. Their products comply with ISO 9001:2015 and IEC standards, and are tested by international certification bodies and the Kenya Bureau of Standards (KEBS) for reliability and safety. Panel Tech Systems provides LV distribution panels, MCC, PCC, and control panels designed to IEC standards. They also supply automatic and manual transfer switches, solar panel systems, hybrid inverters, EV charging infrastructure, and power factor correction panels. Their solutions cater to industrial, commercial, and residential applications, with custom engineering and project consultancy services. Specialised Power Systems Limited offers custom low-voltage switchboards and advanced LV/MV switchgear systems up to 36kV. They focus on efficiency, reliability, and safety, providing voltage stabilizers, power controllers, and continuous support services. Their expertise spans industries, businesses, and institutions across East and Central Africa. Electrical Distributors Limited (Edldraft) has over 36 years of experience in designing, manufacturing, and installing low-voltage switchgear. They provide bespoke LV switchgear solutions for industrial and commercial customers and are channel partners of ABB and Schneider, ensuring high-quality products. African Electric Supplies manufactures low-voltage switchgear suitable for power supply and distribution systems up to 1000V and 6300A. Their products include compact mini s...
