

Fiber Optic Cable Design Solution Price

AI Overview

Custom fiber optic cable pricing varies widely, typically ranging from $0.09 to $6 per foot depending on design complexity, fiber type, strand count, and additional features.

Key Factors Affecting Pricing

- 1. Fiber Type and Strand Count: Single-mode fibers, which support long-distance, high-speed transmission, are generally more expensive than multimode fibers, which are suitable for shorter connections. Higher strand counts increase costs proportionally; for example, a 12-strand cable may cost around $0.50 per foot, while a 24-strand cable can reach $1.00 per foot.
- 2. Cable Construction and Environmental Requirements: Cables with special outer coatings (LSZH, TPU, UV-resistant), water-blocking gel, armor, or multiple strength members increase material and production costs. Armored or plenum-rated cables designed for harsh environments can range from $0.50 to $5 per foot.
- 3. Pre-Termination and Connectors: Pre-terminated cables with connectors such as LC, SC, MPO, or MTRJ require precision assembly, adding labor and equipment costs. Custom patch cables may also include specialized high-power connectors, which extend lead times and increase pricing.
- 4. Order Volume and Lead Time: Small batch or rush orders typically cost more per unit due to setup and expedited production. Larger orders reduce per-unit costs as fixed costs are spread across more units.
- 5. Unique Specifications: Non-standard lengths, hybrid designs, or specialized coatings require additional engineering, testing, and quality assurance, which can further increase costs.

Typical Pricing Ranges

- Wholesale bulk materials: $0.09 to $1.52 per foot
- Retail or pre-terminated assemblies: $1 to $6 per foot
- Simple 1-core FTTH drop cable: ~$0.13 per foot
- High-count backbone cable (e.g., 288 strands): $6 per foot or more

Supplier Options

- Thorlabs: Offers custom patch cables with same-day or short lead-time options for standard configurations, with longer lead times for specialty designs.
- Amphenol Custom Cable: Provides domestic and offshore manufacturing, supportin...
