

Price of all-plastic electrical distribution boxes in Namibia

AI Overview

All-plastic electrical distribution boxes in Namibia typically range from NAD 200 to NAD 1,500 depending on size, type, and supplier.

Overview All-plastic distribution boxes, often made from ABS or PVC, are widely used for residential and commercial electrical installations due to their lightweight, durable, and corrosion-resistant properties. Prices vary based on dimensions, number of modules, IP rating, and brand.

Suppliers in Namibia ElectroTech Namibia – Offers a wide range of electrical enclosures, including plastic distribution boxes, for residential and industrial use. They maintain a large inventory of over 80,000 electrical items. Go4WorldBusiness Namibian Suppliers – Provides bulk purchasing options for electrical distribution boxes from verified local manufacturers, suitable for commercial projects. Regional South African Suppliers – Companies like Golnix Plastics CC supply distribution boards and enclosures to Namibia, often shipping from South Africa.

Price Considerations Small residential boxes (1–6 modules): Approximately NAD 200–400. Medium commercial boxes (12–24 modules): Approximately NAD 500–900. Large industrial enclosures (36+ modules, high IP rating): Can reach NAD 1,200–1,500 or more. Additional costs may include shipping, installation accessories, and optional locks or mounting kits. Bulk orders often qualify for discounts through suppliers like Go4WorldBusiness.

Recommendations Contact local distributors directly for exact pricing and availability, as stock levels and import costs can affect final prices. Verify the IP rating and compliance with Namibian electrical standards to ensure safety and durability. Consider bulk purchasing if multiple units are required, as this can significantly reduce per-unit cost. By reaching out to suppliers such as ElectroTech Namibia or Golnix, you can obtain current quotations tailored to your pr...
