

Upgraded Mexican Cold Joint

AI Overview

Hyspan de Mexico offers upgraded cold joints, including expansion and ball joints, manufactured directly in Mexico with full ISO-certified capabilities.

Manufacturer Overview Hyspan de Mexico, located in Tijuana, operates under the maquiladora program, allowing duty-free import of raw materials and export of finished goods. The facility spans 48,050 square feet and provides complete manufacturing capabilities, including plate burning, CNC turning and drilling, bellows and hose forming, GTAW and GMAW welding, electrical resistance welding, brazing, testing, and cleaning. This makes it a reliable source for high-quality cold joints and related components.

Product Capabilities Hyspan de Mexico produces a variety of upgraded cold joints, such as:

- Expansion joints for piping and industrial applications
- Ball joints for mechanical and structural systems
- Vibration eliminators and pipe guides for OEM applications

All welding is performed according to ASME Section IX, and non-destructive testing is conducted by ASNT Level II inspectors. The facility is also certified under the 97/23/EC Pressure Equipment Directive (PED), ensuring compliance with international standards.

Advantages of Direct Sourcing

- Direct from manufacturer: Reduces intermediaries and ensures competitive pricing
- Custom manufacturing: Capable of producing parts to specific dimensions and tolerances
- High-quality standards: ISO 9001 certified, with rigorous testing and quality control
- Export-ready: Maquiladora status allows efficient shipping to the U.S. and other countries

Additional Options For other cold-formed or cold-rolled metal components, suppliers in Mexico also offer:

- Cold forging for complex parts previously made by machining
- Cold-rolled steel in various alloys and finishes, suitable for high-strength and precision applications
- Special rivets and cold-formed parts for automotive, industrial, and construction industries

How to Procure Interested buyers can contact Hyspan de Mexico directly to request quotes, discuss custom specifications, and arrange for direct delivery withi...
