

Where is Huijue Fiber Optic Cable located

AI Overview

Huijue Fiber Optic Cable is headquartered in Shanghai, China, with major production bases in Jiangsu and Guangdong provinces. Headquarters The main headquarters of Shanghai Huijue Network Communication Equipment Co., Ltd. is located in Shanghai, specifically in the Shanghai Free Trade Zone, Lin-gang New Area. This site houses the company's R&D center, technical center, prototype department, and sales offices, covering an area of over 18,000 square meters. Production Bases Huijue operates several large-scale production facilities across China: Jiangsu Province: The company has a production base in Hai'an National Economic Development Zone, Jiangsu, which focuses on fiber optic components, telecom cabinets, and FTTH (fiber-to-the-home) products. This base covers tens of thousands of square meters and includes multiple assembly workshops for sheet metal, patch cords, and fiber optic cables. Shanghai Fengxian: Another production facility in Fengxian, Shanghai, supports optical communication manufacturing and assembly. Guangdong Huizhou: Huijue also maintains a production base in Huizhou, Guangdong Province, contributing to its nationwide manufacturing network. Jiangsu Yangzhou: A further production site in Yangzhou, Jiangsu, is part of the company's industrial infrastructure. Scale and Capabilities Across these locations, Huijue's factories cover over 200,000 square meters and employ thousands of staff. The facilities are equipped for the production of fiber optic cables, optical fiber components, outdoor cabinets, and data center solutions. The company serves both domestic telecom operators and international markets, including Europe, North America, Southeast Asia, and Australia. In summary, Huijue Fiber Optic Cable operations are centered in Shanghai for headquarters and R&D, with major manufacturing bases in Jiangsu (Hai'an and Yangzhou), Shanghai Fengxian, and Guangdong Huizhou, forming a comprehensive network for fiber optic production and telecom equipment.
